Logging in to Wild Apricot

You can log in at www.pajeroclub.com.au.

Logging in from your Wild Apricot site

If you do not remember your Wild Apricot website address, check your email inbox for the password email that was sent to you. If you did not receive an email, check your email spam folder.

Entering your login credentials

In the log in fields, you enter your Wild Apricot credentials – your primary email and password – then click the Login button.

If you do not remember your password, click the Forgot password link next to the Login button. On the page that appears, you can enter your email address to receive a reset password link via email.

After you log in

After you log in, a message will appear in the bottom right corner if you have unpaid invoices or incomplete registrations, or are lapsed, overdue, or within a week of your renewal date.

What you see and what you can do after logging in may depend on your membership level and membership status.

Logging in automatically

To avoid having to enter your email and password every time you log in, check the Remember me option before clicking the Login button.

When you next restart your browser and access your Wild Apricot site, you'll be automatically logged in.

You'll be logged in automatically only on the computer you used when you checked the Remember me option. Wild Apricot remembers you by depositing a cookie (a small text file) on your computer. For security reasons, you shouldn't ask Wild Apricot to remember you on shared or public computers.

Some browsers may also offer to remember your login information. To stop your browser from remembering your login information, you need to clear (i.e. delete) your browser cookies. For instructions on clearing browser cookies, click here.

Browser add-ons for managing and remember passwords – like Last Pass – can be used to remember both the email and password for Wild Apricot sites.
